

The "European Union Migration Policy" course exceeded all my expectations! The instructors presented the information in a clear and accessible manner, which helped me gain a deeper understanding of the complex aspects of migration policy. I particularly appreciated that the module was taught in English! The course materials were well-organized, making it easier to grasp the content. Interactive assignments and discussions enabled me to apply the knowledge in practice. I am truly grateful for this educational experience and highly recommend the course to anyone interested in this subject.

I really enjoyed the course, primarily because it is directly related to my field of study, "International Relations." What was also interesting is that the course was conducted in English. I have many friends and acquaintances in Europe – in Italy, Germany, Latvia – and I can easily discuss migration topics with them, delving deeply into the internal aspects. I also appreciated that the course was divided into stages: we studied the history, social, and economic aspects separately. And, of course, the fact that the course was taught by faculty from my department, whom I already trust, I absorb the material more effectively.

Overall, my impressions of the course are very positive. The material was easy to grasp and presented in an engaging way. Its division into three modules helped me better understand both the underlying causes and the current processes driven by migration. The course is also quite relevant to my field of study, International Relations, as it helps to gain a deeper understanding of the political and social situation in Europe. I found the course to be very useful, as the knowledge I gained was applicable in other subjects as well, and I would be interested in taking similar courses in the future.
